

Winter Intersession Scheduling Policy

1. Students may be admitted to begin during Winter Intersession.
2. For undergraduate students, no academic action will result from Winter Intersession; fall academic action will be in effect until spring. For graduate students, Winter Intersession will be considered a regular term of attendance which will result in the standard academic action.
3. Winter Intersession credits will not count toward full-time status for the fall or spring semester with the possible exception of spring financial aid awards and athletic eligibility.
4. Degrees will be awarded at the end of Winter Intersession to students who fulfilled the requirements.
5. Grades will be due from faculty at noon one week after Winter Intersession ends.
6. Students are limited to taking one credit per week for the Winter Intersession term.
7. Appeals to these policies must be directed to the Committee on Academic Policies and Standards (CAPS) or an appropriate committee designated by the Faculty Senate.

First approved by Faculty Senate 5/6/99; CAPS revisions approved by Faculty Senate 4/19/2001 and by Chancellor 9/25/01; another CAPS revision approved by Faculty Senate 4/29/04 and by Chancellor 5/2/04.
